

COMMUNITY EMERGENCY RESPONSE TEAM

TEEN CERT TRAINING COURSE

TEEN CERT is part of the Paso Robles CERT program, sponsored by Paso Robles Fire, and is also a component of the FEMA program that trains volunteers to protect themselves, their families, and their friends/community in the event of a disaster through hands-on preparedness and emergency response education. This course is designed for ages 15-19.

TEEN CERT offers a unique opportunity for young people to serve their community while building leadership and teamwork skills. This is also a worthwhile way to gain college hours for your college resume while making a difference in your community.
